The first part of the study focuses on the theoretical framework, which includes a review of the literature and the development of the research hypotheses. The second part of the study is the empirical analysis, which involves data collection, data analysis, and the testing of the hypotheses. The third part of the study is the discussion, which interprets the results and discusses their implications. The final part of the study is the conclusion, which summarizes the findings and provides recommendations for future research.

The study is organized as follows: Chapter 1 provides an overview of the research. Chapter 2 discusses the theoretical background and the research hypotheses. Chapter 3 describes the methodology used in the study. Chapter 4 presents the results of the study. Chapter 5 discusses the results and their implications. Chapter 6 provides the conclusion and recommendations.
