

Figure 1

The figure shows a rectangular structure with a central square region. The structure is divided into several horizontal and vertical sections. The central square region is shaded in a darker color, possibly representing a core or a specific material. The surrounding regions are lighter, suggesting a different material or a void. The overall shape is a rectangle with a square cutout in the center.

The figure shows a rectangular structure with a central square region. The structure is divided into several horizontal and vertical sections. The central square region is shaded in a darker color, possibly representing a core or a specific material. The surrounding regions are lighter, suggesting a different material or a void. The overall shape is a rectangle with a square cutout in the center.

The figure shows a rectangular structure with a central square region. The structure is divided into several horizontal and vertical sections. The central square region is shaded in a darker color, possibly representing a core or a specific material. The surrounding regions are lighter, suggesting a different material or a void. The overall shape is a rectangle with a square cutout in the center.

The figure shows a rectangular structure with a central square region. The structure is divided into several horizontal and vertical sections. The central square region is shaded in a darker color, possibly representing a core or a specific material. The surrounding regions are lighter, suggesting a different material or a void. The overall shape is a rectangle with a square cutout in the center.

The figure shows a rectangular structure with a central square region. The structure is divided into several horizontal and vertical sections. The central square region is shaded in a darker color, possibly representing a core or a specific material. The surrounding regions are lighter, suggesting a different material or a void. The overall shape is a rectangle with a square cutout in the center.