

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased from 10.5 million to 12.5 million (12% of the population).

3.1.1. The public sector

The public sector is defined as those organisations that are owned and controlled by the state. The public sector includes the central government, local government, health services, education, and other public services.

The public sector is a major employer in the UK, and its growth has been a key factor in the overall increase in the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector.

3.1.2. The private sector

The private sector is defined as those organisations that are owned and controlled by private individuals or companies. The private sector includes the manufacturing sector, the service sector, and other private businesses.

The private sector is a major employer in the UK, and its growth has been a key factor in the overall increase in the number of people in the UK who are employed in the private sector.

The private sector is a major employer in the UK, and its growth has been a key factor in the overall increase in the number of people in the UK who are employed in the private sector.

The private sector is a major employer in the UK, and its growth has been a key factor in the overall increase in the number of people in the UK who are employed in the private sector.

The private sector is a major employer in the UK, and its growth has been a key factor in the overall increase in the number of people in the UK who are employed in the private sector.

The private sector is a major employer in the UK, and its growth has been a key factor in the overall increase in the number of people in the UK who are employed in the private sector.

The private sector is a major employer in the UK, and its growth has been a key factor in the overall increase in the number of people in the UK who are employed in the private sector.

The private sector is a major employer in the UK, and its growth has been a key factor in the overall increase in the number of people in the UK who are employed in the private sector.

The private sector is a major employer in the UK, and its growth has been a key factor in the overall increase in the number of people in the UK who are employed in the private sector.

The private sector is a major employer in the UK, and its growth has been a key factor in the overall increase in the number of people in the UK who are employed in the private sector.

The private sector is a major employer in the UK, and its growth has been a key factor in the overall increase in the number of people in the UK who are employed in the private sector.

The private sector is a major employer in the UK, and its growth has been a key factor in the overall increase in the number of people in the UK who are employed in the private sector.