

the user's information needs. The user's information needs are defined as the user's requirements for information that will help them to solve a problem or complete a task. The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's knowledge, skills, and abilities. The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's current state of knowledge and the user's desired state of knowledge. The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's current state of knowledge and the user's desired state of knowledge. The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's current state of knowledge and the user's desired state of knowledge.

The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's current state of knowledge and the user's desired state of knowledge. The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's current state of knowledge and the user's desired state of knowledge.

The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's current state of knowledge and the user's desired state of knowledge. The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's current state of knowledge and the user's desired state of knowledge.

The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's current state of knowledge and the user's desired state of knowledge. The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's current state of knowledge and the user's desired state of knowledge.

The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's current state of knowledge and the user's desired state of knowledge. The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's current state of knowledge and the user's desired state of knowledge.

The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's current state of knowledge and the user's desired state of knowledge. The user's information needs are defined in terms of the user's current state of knowledge and the user's desired state of knowledge.