

The diagram illustrates a hierarchical or nested structure. At the top, there are two horizontal lines. Below them is a large rectangular box labeled "System". Inside this box is a smaller rectangular box labeled "Subsystem". To the right of the "Subsystem" box, there are several lines and arrows pointing downwards and to the right, suggesting a flow or relationship. Below the "System" box, there are more lines and arrows, some pointing towards the "Subsystem" box. The diagram is surrounded by various lines and arrows, suggesting a flow or relationship between the system and its subsystem.
